NYENRODE
BUSINESS UNIVERSITEIT
A reward for life

Nyenrode Business Universiteit is the only private university in the Netherlands. The university's philosophy is built on the pillars leadership, entrepreneurship & stewardship. We offer graduate level programs in the fields of general management, accountancy and controlling. Being highly selective, with a focus on candidates' motivation and social skills, Nyenrode Business Universiteit has created an environment in which students and faculty are all dedicated to bridging the gap between academic rigor and daily business practice. The university is located in Breukelen on a green 13th century castle estate spanning 140 acres.
Within our Center for Information and Management Accounting Control Systems (IMACS) we have a vacancy for an:

Assistant Professor of Management Accounting & Control
(1,0 fte – 40 hours)

Aim and position

The position is for a non-tenure track candidate. The implication is that the teaching load will be somewhat higher than is typically the case for tenure track candidates, but we do offer substantial room for research. The candidate will become part of an internationally oriented team with a strong dedication to both research and teaching excellence.

Teaching
Depending on teaching experience, initial teaching responsibilities will be in the MSc in Controlling and BSc in Accountancy programs, but the successful candidate is expected to develop a broad teaching portfolio that includes other audiences as well.

Research
We are interested in candidates with a clear research ambition and a solid background in relevant research methods. Candidates must have a promising research direction aimed at international publications, and a high-quality and original research portfolio that is relevant to both academe and managerial practice. Candidates must be able to translate academic insights to managerial practice.

Job requirements

- Ph.D. degree in a relevant discipline from a reputable research university. Candidates expecting to complete their Ph.D. in the near future are also invited to apply.
- Evidence of talent for teaching.
- Ability to teach in Dutch and English.
- Necessary credentials to teach at Dutch universities (a candidate has to be "BKO registered" or should be willing to obtain the BKO-registration within two years).
- Skills and willingness to work in a team.

Salary

- The initial appointment is for one year with the intention of renewal.
- Salary depends on position and qualifications.
- Tax benefits may apply.

Information/contact

Interested candidates are invited to forward their application (a cover letter, curriculum vitae and one or two published or working papers) to jobs@nyenrode.nl.
